Welcome to another Q&A Session! We are currently in the middle of some time-consuming research, so we will publish this second Q&A in a row in the meantime. Feel absolutely free to submit more questions at wespenreproductions@gmail.com, and make sure to put "Q&A" in the subject line, so we don't miss your email. We think you will like this one...

Question 1: In the "Invader Force" full movie - Video 196 – En.ki and his army destroy everything in Tiamaat's path since he was demoted. That being the case, why then didn't he just destroy the genetic centers so he wouldn't end up working there? Why did he destroy the innocent Namlu'us?

Answer: There is an even bigger story. According to the ancient text called the Enûma Eliš (The Babylonian Creation Story), Marduk was put in charge of the Invasion of Tiamaat, whilst in the middle of it. He made an agreement with the Sirian invaders that if he could destroy Tiamaat, he would be their king/leader, so he did. Therefore, we don't know for a fact what En.ki's original plan was in this regard, but after the Solar War, En.ki and the Invaders decided to use us, the Namlu'us, to build a new Construct, the EArth. The Experiment continued on this planet, until the Flood. After that, En.ki created his own experiment within the original Experiment, which was not in line with Orion's plan, so En.ki and the other Invaders were stripped of their creative abilities. So, they are now feeding off the soul energy of the human soul group.

Question 2: ...can someone be on other side of the Grid and bypass Orion all together or leave it "ASAP" to figure out their best "landing place"?

Answer: We are currently doing some in-depth research on this subject. However, we need to continue digging into this, and when we've finished, we will release a video series on this particular subject and what more is related to it. No one is obligated to go to a specific place or realm—let your personal intuition will guide you. The most important thing, as we see it, is for as many as possible to exit this construct. Where we want to go after that is anybody's choice. If uncertain, a good idea might be to say to yourself, "I am going to the absolute highest aspect of me."

Question 3: You refer to the Humans that have a part of the Divine Feminine as spirited and other beings (including Humans) as souled.

If they are recycling souls:

1. Wouldn't the A.I.F. know who has spirit and who does not?
2. How is the spirit recycled and enter the body? And do you have a soul and spirit?
3. Is spirit kept in bloodlines and family as well, or it is random?
4. Do my parents need to be spirited if I am spirited?

5. Have you found a technique (other than good ol' persistence and hard work) to be able to peel the layers of rubbish that has been put upon us in order to reach our spirit?

Answer: We'll answer these questions in the same order you asked them:

1) Yes, they certainly know who is spirited and who is not. Moreover, En.ki created his own "souls" as a mimic of the soul that's embedded within the original human spirit/soul-mind/body complex, and he definitely recognizes his own people. We will go further into this in upcoming videos.

2 and 3) The essential human soul group (the Namlu'u) are composed of a spirit, soul-mind, and a body, originating in the Spiritual Realm. This composite is in essence etheric and spiritual in nature. Those who are not of the original human soul group lack Spirit. The Namlu'u composite voluntarily came to this construct from the Spiritual Realm to incarnate here, hoping to increase compassion and love in the lower realms, i.e. the Material Universe, which we call the KHAA. We are here on behalf of the Mother Goddess we have been discussing over the years. The upcoming videos will go into details about this...

To the best of our understanding, this is accomplished with technology that is beyond our comprehension. Technology exists within the nonphysical or semi physical layers of our "world".

4) We can't say for sure, but it seems random. Just because you possess the spark of Spirit does not mean that your parents, your siblings, or you children do. It isn't something that is "passed down" through a genetic line. It is something you incarnated here already possessing. You keep it throughout all lifetime incarnations.

5) You are asking excellent questions! The only thing in which we all need to do is to think and act according to the attributes which make Spirit stronger. We have produced several videos which help to explain what those qualities are. For a quick reference, please read The Tale of the Two Wolves (see transcript for a link)¹.

Therapists and life coaches are presenting numerous techniques to integrate our soul splinters so we can become whole again. Unfortunately, all these techniques are only addressing the human soul and not the Spirit, which is the "highest" aspect of a true human. Therefore, people don't manage to peel off the layers of the reactive mind/artificial soul. Some techniques can make people feel better, but they don't make people recover. Because of the complexity of the subconscious mind in this construct, it's not enough to address the soul. Trauma and emotional wounds can't be completely healed. Instead, we need to open up to Spirit and let Spirit in (or out, depending on perspective). When we do, the artificial soul no longer has any authority over us. The trauma will still remain, so long as we stay in the Matrix, but it will affect us less and less the more Spirit we connect with, until it hardly affects us at all. Again, we will explain this in detail in upcoming videos...

Question 4: Who is Lord Sanada of The Galactic Federation of Light? The Ashtar Command? Is he the Second Coming for The New Age?

Answer: I, Wes, wrote about Lord Sanada in the Wes Penre Papers (WPP), sarcastically calling him "Space Jesus." The channeled entity, who presents himself as Lord Sanada, does not necessarily need to be En.ki in person but a representation of him and the Galactic Federation of Light (GFL) by a group of En.ki's Minions. The message from the GFL, however, is certainly a message of a Second Coming, but from a New Age perspective. They are preparing us.

Question 5: Who created the various hominids that existed millions to a few hundred thousand years ago, was it The Vegans or En.ki?

Answer: Those hominoids were En.ki's experiments in genetic tinkering before he decided on homo sapiens. The hominids were forerunners—experiments En.ki was not pleased with, for various reasons.

Question 6: When a person sees life from beyond this matrix/patrix and knows precisely what is going on, and yet life keeps on repeating the same neurotic patterns, with no lesson to learn from it, I'm just puzzled as of this repetition because I am awake and conscious.

Answer: It's not so much that there are no lessons to be learned, but usually, the lessons are very limited from lifetime to lifetime. We tend to repeat the same old patterns over and over. Having amnesia doesn't exactly make it easier. However, we are not completely running on autopilot, either, and each lifetime we make unpredictable choices that steer us onto a slightly different path, putting us on an alternative timeline. However, the only learning that is really worth anything in the Matrix is the learning that helps us wake up to Spirit inside. It's only Spirit inside that can free us—once it's woken up. Whatever we do as spirited humans here on Earth, waking up Spirit is the only thing that's important for those who want to exit the Matrix. This is the ultimate freewill of choice—we can choose whether to wake up or not.

There is always more to learn and find ways to grow. If your current life is repeating "neurotic patterns", as you say, then you are making decisions which are keeping you in these loops. If you no longer wish to keep repeating these loops, look for the growth or the opportunities which are being given to you.

In previous videos, we have discussed the information that was given by someone who described life as a wheel. We agree with this description. Each person has their own wheel, or timeline. Yes, we will keep going around and around, the same wheel or timeline for each incarnation until we "break the wheel", so to speak. You know when you have made a choice which "breaks the wheel" when these repeated patterns of looping circumstances stop and become something different in your life. This is the difference between taking control of your life or continuing to give up control to the "Wheel of Destiny," within which we all agree to incarnate, according to our life plan, astrological alignment, and genetic history.

If you would like for your life to continue to be directed by the influences, then just keep living life on automatic pilot. If you wish to take control of your life back from the Matrix Overseers, then look for and be prepared to break repeating cycles. These cycles are not always obvious, but we can usually find them when we look at what we feel is "wrong" with our life. The cycles are often at the root cause of our problems.
