Hello again, folks. It's time for another Q&A Session, so let's get right into it. You can submit questions for future Q&A's at wespenreproductions@gmail.com.

QUESTION 1: When the Kenoma is consumed and souls return to Orion to become Creator Gods/Goddesses, will free will still play a part? What I mean is, would we still be free to create whatever we want, or are there certain guidelines we'd have to follow? Of course, I'd think you can't do anything to cause harm to others (and I doubt anyone would want to, anyways), but besides that, would we really have the free will to create absolutely anything we want? Even if let's say, Jess, wanted to create a planet where she dwells by herself or even with beings she created. Would that be possible at all?? Would we have limits as Creator Gods/Goddesses?

ANSWER: We are already creators. We don't have to wait until we leave this place to create. As for freewill, the answer is yes. Freewill is one of the rule sets for this Universe. Because of this, creation must be very carefully respected in all ways. It would be no different "there" than it is here. How we create here is most likely how we will create outside of here, because ultimately the fabric for creation in here is the same as "out there". Some of this we have no answers for other than to use this reality as a guide, because as above/so below, and this reality is just a recycling of higher density realities that have been copied at lower densities. Of course, in a Universe of Freewill there will be those whose intention is to harm. That is allowed. Many people have a problem with that because they do not want to participate in creation that way. We would agree with them. We would also, however, consider those experiences to be in lower density realities or realms (ours being the lowest, in our opinion). If there are those who leave this realm and intend to do harm, they would not be a match to the very highest frequencies of existence in this Universe and therefore would not be something we will encounter if our state of being are of those higher densities. You will only co-create and encounter those whose frequency are a match to yours. For example, if your intention is to kill all the murderers, then be careful because this might land you in a "space" where you will encounter nothing BUT murders so that your intention may be fulfilled. See how that works?

So, if we are going to Orion, for example, freewill still applies, and we can create whatever we want, contrary to how it is here in the Kenoma/Matrix, where our freewill has been heavily manipulated. This is why it's so important for Orion that we get rid of our attachments and archontic beliefs before we enter Orion. Otherwise, we will just create a new Kenoma there with the usual good and evil—in other words, we bring the Archons with us into the 8th and 9th Heaven (Orion). That will not be allowed. Our own shadow side/subconscious mind is the same as Sophia's Ignorance, which is the Kenoma. Therefore, we need to achieve Gnosis, which is the Knowledge of who we are, before we can seriously address the Ignorance within ourselves.

It's probably not possible to get rid of all our Ignorance before we physically die, but we can do our best. If we are awake in Spirit, we can get help with the rest when it's time to enter Orion. Consequently, we can then become creator gods without carrying the baggage of archontic ignorance with us.

Regarding the Pleroma, from what we understand, we will have freewill to create there, as well. Because we have Christ and Sophia within us, we will have access to all the characteristics of the other Aeons in the Pleroma, which gives us full freedom to create. So, Jess in your example would be able to create exactly what you describe.

QUESTION 2: You state in the Q & A #43 on question #4 that you had extraterrestrial contact daily for 5 years. You state you must keep a lot of it secret and I respect that, however, in Q & A #40 question #3 and Q & A #45 question #7, in both cases you state that all extraterrestrials, channeled material, etc. are tricks from inside the Matrix and no outside beings would violate the experiment by making contact with us in the Matrix, but you state you have had contact. How can this be? Please reconcile. Can you state where these beings were from and how you could have had contact? How come your ET experience is valid, but you state other times to the questioners that they are not and just tricks?

ANSWER: Good question. It's true that I've had extraterrestrial contact for a long time, but that contact is not channeled, nor is it an ethereal experience—it's an "Earthly" experience, if you will. I am/was referring to the channeled entities that tune into selected people, and the so-called "data dump." This is not how the spiritual realm operates, from our understanding. Like you said, I can't go into details about my own experience. All I can say is that it's very unusual and quite unique, and from long-term interaction, I've learned a few things. I'm not saying that people should just take this statement as fact because it can't be physically proven—only through my work. This is definitely a subject where each person needs to come to their own conclusions and make up their own minds. Does it make sense or not? Or even better; dig into these so-called alien contacts people are having, whether they are channeled or physical/ethereal encounters, connect the dots and make your own conclusions. Who are they? All I can say is that there is a difference between my contact and that which we hear so much about in the spiritual and UFO communities.

QUESTION 3: Living my challenges I have now, I do not understand anymore how my life is directed. I always try to think positively, and when I want something badly (like a photo studio) I do it with all my strength and imagination with emotion as if I have it already, but it did never happen.

Will I be successful, will I fail?

Our thoughts are energy which influence the Universe I am told, but how can they work if we are under Enki's construct? Can you really create your own reality? Why can't I know how the Universe is influencing my life or how my thoughts are interpreted. I do not know how to think anymore.

ANSWER: We suspect that these questions are not unique to you—we think others might have asked themselves the same things. The problem most people have is when they set an intention to do or get something, they subconsciously also set a counter-intention, e.g. to address your own question, “will I be successful, will I fail?” the “universe” will most likely act on the latter, “will I fail?” because that intention came later. Thus, the person will not get what they want. It's a matter of being able to control one's mind. We don't know if you have read the Gnostic Series on our blog yet, but by achieving Gnosis (Spiritual Knowledge of oneself and to connect to it), we can more easily recognize our counter-intentions and non-beneficial beliefs about ourselves. Either way, it's important to stay focused on the task we have intended to accomplish and not letting anyone or anything come in to distract or let us doubt that path. In this solid Matrix/Kenoma, most intentions require some action in the physical world as well, and that's where real focus comes into the picture.

It also has to do with our vibration. If we intend something, we need to match the vibration that makes the desired outcome possible. If you would like to become rich, for example, you need to work on meeting the vibration required to be able to pull in a lot of money in your life. If we are depressed or feeling down, we will manifest the thoughts and intentions matching those vibrations.

You are directing your own life, whether you are aware of it or not, by the choices you make. This is very important, so we want to be as clear and simple as possible. It's not complicated, but it does take self-awareness and the willingness to evolve and change. Let's use your photo studio as the example (what a wonderful idea, by the way!). Not only do you have to be confident in your intention that it WILL happen, with no doubt, but you also have to exist as if you already have it. You can't just feel it, you have to DO it. You have to put yourself on the “life path” in which you have a studio. If you’ve asked for this from the Universe, you’ve already been given it. You just have to catch up to the result. We admit that we really don’t know anything about having a photo studio, but we would begin to act and make decisions that get us closer to that result. Will it be in your home? If so, go ahead and start making space for it and putting it in order just how you want it to be. Then you have given the Universe “space” to place it in your life. If you can’t do big things, then do little things, like design your logo or business cards. Take small or large steps that work toward your intention and your life will begin to rearrange itself to fit. Pay attention! Opportunities will begin to pop up and they may seem completely unrelated, even the things that may seem “bad” at first could be a step on that new path. Open your eyes and your mind to possibilities that don’t necessarily seem to be related. They are. Before you know it, you will be operating a photo studio, but it will come in small increments. We are very dense in this reality and very few things happen with a big bang, but rather in small movements and subtle changes that LEAD us to what we want. Trust the process. Trust. YOU OWN A PHOTO STUDIO, so you need to start making things ready. It’s very literally like preparing for a new baby. You know it’s coming so you get ready for it knowing with full confidence that it is going to happen. You read the books, you buy the things, you tell everyone that it’s coming, etc. Your photo studio is the birth of your creation. We wish you the very best!

QUESTION 4: We (me and my partner) now do not believe anymore that bad things must happen for us to evolve. Why do you have to suffer to grow? Must it be so? Is it universal, as well in the KHAA, or is it another of Enki’s inventions?

ANSWER: This is the way we see it...

When Source realized that potential existed for It to not know everything, which contradicts Itself as being EVERYTHING, a sacred space of experience was created in which Source could experience what it means to feel ignorance or not having everything. This "space" is made of frequency (vibration/material = matter) in order to accomplish this. This happened, naturally, within the Aeon Sophia because Her attribute is Wisdom and She was the appropriate aspect of Source to experience this creation within Itself due to It’s quality or ability to gain Wisdom from the experience.

A separation, or the ILLUSION of separation, could be achieved by introducing something new called frequency and separating or fragmenting this Aeon into contrasting frequencies on a gradient scale that would allow for movement “up and down”. Vibrations of the highest aspect of being that we call LOVE could now be experienced from the perspective of the LACK of it.

This lower frequency Universe which is created from fear will always produce the qualities that it was made from. It can't be anything other than that. HOWEVER, Source cannot remain ignorant of Itself forever because gaining knowledge of oneself will naturally lead to less and less ignorance. We exist within a creation which is constantly “moving” and changing. This was made possible by the introduction of Freewill. Without this Law everyone and everything would always remain at the same level of development and nothing would be gained by Wisdom, which requires movement or seeking/searching. The fabric of creation for this Universe isn't ignorance, but rather a question of how to resolve it.

So, to remain in ignorance isn't the intention. The intention wasn't a statement of “I am ignorance.” The intention was formed as a question (which represents a paradox within Source and so it was kept separate from the rest) of “WHAT am I?” Just by the nature of its qualities, ignorance will always seek to solve itself. In just by asking the question, by another Law that we have for our benefit; the Law of Attraction, the very asking of a question is guaranteed to provide the answer by drawing it to us. This process will only ever lead one way - UP.

If we were not LOVE, we would not know FEAR. We are both, so is She, and so is Source. We are all doing and experiencing the same things, because we are literally Source experiencing Itself and learning how to conquer Its own Ignorance (Fear) with Its own Love. We're just doing it at a very, very low-density realm or reality, and all of this exists inside of the Aeon Sophia. It's pretty amazing when we are able to remember that this is what everything is really about.

We live on a planet where there is always death and decay—nothing here survives. Therefore, everything here instinctively works on survival first, which also creates competition because one person's success might include another person's failure. We feel the need to be in control of ourselves and our environment, often to an extreme. So, in general, people step on each other's toes to reach a better position where they think they will survive better. This is applicable both among the everyday human, people of wealth, crime syndicates, and ultimately the archons and Yaldabaoth/En.ki himself. Pain and suffering are based on ignorance, which creates fear—cooperation is based on love, compassion, and empathy. Knowledge/Gnosis is what helps bring that about.

The deeper we fall into the Kenoma, the more pain and suffering we experience, and we are now, from what it seems, at the bottom of the Kenoma and can't fall any deeper. Now it's time to go back from where we came (see our Gnostic Series on the blog). To free ourselves from pain and suffering, we need to enter Orion (the 8th and 9th Heaven in Gnosticism), and ultimately the Pleroma, i.e. the Spiritual Realm. This is where we're heading now. So yes, pain and suffering, to a various degree, exists in all creation in which En.ki is the Chief Archon.

QUESTION 5: You talked how waking to spirit takes responsibility and avoiding low vibrational stuffs, (so as to enter Orion or the 9th heaven) this is sounding like more rules, good and bad, church's "it's a sin" bull, and now do we get to consider what is really bad or acceptable and the various shades in between ? Example: senseless killing or with a strong reason, killing without a strong reason or by error)...all that sounds like the church's stuff all over again in a new style. I thought we should be bigger than good and bad? bigger than the system? Can't we?

ANSWER: We would partly like to refer to previous answers in this Q&A, but to expand on your concept, the only “sin” is Ignorance because ignorance creates evil. In order to become creator gods, whether it's in Orion or in the Spiritual Realm (the Pleroma), we need to replace our Ignorance with Knowledge, which can be accomplished to a large degree by achieving Gnosis, i.e. by reading the Gnostic texts, which are based on Knowledge (Knowledge being Light and Ignorance being Darkness) and take it to Heart. Once we've entered Orion, we've first been stripped of Ignorance (evil), and we have freewill to create whatever we want. And if we're stripped from evil, we no longer need to be concerned about creating something detrimental to ourselves or others. After having achieved Gnosis, i.e. taken it to Heart, we no longer have any doubts about what is good and what is evil. By default, Spirit is not evil, and we ARE Spirit/Divine Mind. Once we fully realize this, we no longer have any urge to create evil—it no longer comes to mind, even. Only in the Kenoma/Matrix does evil exist, leading to war, murders, genocide, betrayal, and conflict, and it's just a matter of a short time before the entire Kenoma will become enlightened and evil will destroy itself in the process—however, not without initial resistance.

Another important thing: you make your own rules. What you want to experience is up to you. If you think “everything is bs” then you will get experiences in which everything is bs. If you want to fight against evil, then you will get experiences in which you will be confronted with evil at every turn. Do you see how that works? Can we be bigger than the system? Yes. That’s the point of being here. What started out as a group thing has now turned into an individual thing, though. Everyone has to do their part on their own, now.

QUESTION 6: How do I approach my livelihood within the domain of IT, if it is almost entirely in support of emerging technologies such as 5G, Cloud Connectivity, and the like? I am indeed “in” the system, but I am not “of” the system in terms of my awareness of what I am doing and what it may ultimately contribute to. Do I find a different line of work, forgoing a lifetime of skills that have been developed in support of my occupation? Or do I somehow work within the system as a conscientious agent, ensuring that I don’t contribute to the worst of coming technical advancements?

ANSWER: We understand the conundrum. It’s difficult to get a job without at the same time serving the archontic agenda. Therefore, we have, as aware humans, a few options, as we see it:

- 1) If we feel bad about our job, we can switch jobs to something that we consider less in line with the Agenda.
- 2) We can continue with our job, without agreeing with the agenda. We might not be able to change the job, but we can use what we know and who we are on a spiritual level and affect people around us positively by being us. We can affect people on a spiritual level, inspire them, and perhaps spark their interest in finding things out more about themselves and what’s going on around them.
- 3) We might be able to find a way to make a living without being dependent upon an employer—we become self-sufficient, whether this means creating our own food source or starting a business of some sort that is helping and assisting humanity. Maybe we can find a way of making a living on the Internet? Perhaps write books and articles? A good idea could be to figure out what our passion is and go for it. If it’s our real passion, we CAN make a living from it.

We are not promoting one alternative before the other—it’s everybody’s choice. These are just some ideas.

We would never tell you what to do, or which choice is the best. We feel very strongly that people should make decisions based on their own beliefs and what they feel in their heart is best. Look for opportunities to be a benefit no matter where you are and what you are doing. People who can create the most influence and have the most impact are never the ones sitting out on the fringes. They are the ones who are in the thick of things – always. If you are right in the middle of something, then you could have a perspective that those who are only on the outside do not have. Never fight evil with more evil, so keep good intentions, always, and then ask to be shown how you can help. You will.

Before we end this video, we'd like to acknowledge our Patrons, without whom we wouldn't be able to do what we're doing. The following list consists of our Tier 3 and Tier 4 Patrons. At the final end of the video, we will also list Tier 2 Patrons, who are also very important to us. Thank you from the bottom of our hearts for your support!
