Hello, this is Wes Penre. Here is a new Q&A video from Wes and Ariel, and we hope you will enjoy it! If you have any questions to submit for upcoming Q&As, please email them at wespenreproductions@gmail.com, and don't forget to put "Q&A" in the subject line...

QUESTION 1: How do we know that we are making different and better decisions in this lifetime compared to previous ones?

Can signs be bad or good depending on what vibration you are on?

For example, if you are in a lower vibration, you would be directed to see signs that keep you stuck in the same decision-making versus if you were in tune with your higher self, you would receive true signs that are from your higher self?

Lastly, I was wondering if it is signs that manifest into our reality to answer our questions OR the signs are already there and the thoughts come into our heads at the right time to meet with those signs, and if it is the latter, it's almost like everything is orchestrated like a movie.

ANSWER: It's difficult to know whether we are making better or worse decisions from one lifetime to another because we have amnesia. However, we would highly suggest that people who have come this far in their spiritual awareness have certainly made a lot of progress this life compared with the previous one.

Signs, such as 11:11, 2:22, and other types of signs and synchronicities can have different meanings depending on the person. For many, it could just be that they have started paying more attention. It could also be the Universe or Higher Self confirming that you are doing something right or that you need to pay attention to what happened just before you saw a certain synchronistic number combination, for example. It could be something important. What were you thinking? What happened? Some can be misleading, as well, but if you're interested in this, we suggest you pay attention, like we just mentioned, and try to figure out what the synchronicities try to tell you. Then, feel it in your Heart whether it's genuinely helpful or not. That's the most secure way to find out.

Because the Universe is thought-responsive and fluid, and things are often happening simultaneously, the signs might sometimes be created on the fly, and sometimes they are already there, and you happen to see them in the "right moment."

Interestingly enough, the time on my computer showed 3:33pm when I, Wes, read your questions.

It really is as if everything is orchestrated like a movie and that's a very good analogy and description of what is life. As much as this answer will be unpopular, the "signs" most people are looking for when wanting to break their wheel or break the cycle of their intended life in order to advance into the next level will be those very difficult events and decisions that no one looks forward to experiencing, unfortunately. In other words, if it's not hard, then it's probably not something that is going to take you out of your wheel, and the point of ALL of this is TO GET OUT OF THE WHEEL. We must make the hard decisions, do the hard things, face our own demons and not only battle them but WIN against them. This is the "Hero's Journey" that we all must embark on to improve ourselves and grow in the direction we must if we want out of here. We must all go into the darkness alone, realize there is no path to follow, encounter and slay dragons, be tested by feats of strength to learn how weak we really are, suffer injury, illness, and grief to learn how strong we really are. Eventually we will have completed the journey after having done all of these things and gain the reward of "kighthood" (this is a metaphor; it simply means transformed). This is the story of the Holy Grail, the Legend of King Arthur, J.R.R Tolkien's Lord of the Rings, the story of Jesus, and so many other tales that they are too many to list. These are all our great stories of Mythology and Legend. These are all our great stories of Literature and Epics. These are our religions and box-office hit movies. These are the stories of Archetypes, and if a human does life correctly then this will be the story of transformation and ascension of that human. Research Archetypes, Hero's Journey, and Carl Jung to learn more about how this can relate to your life. How can you tell when you are doing it? You become stronger, more humble, wise, etc. by going through each of your ordeals.

QUESTION 2: Anton Parks wrote "as above so below." Does this mean that there is also manipulation in the KHAA? If so, what is the point to exist further as spirit?

ANSWER: Yes, of course, there is manipulation in the KHAA because WE ARE IN THE KHAA. The KHAA isn't some location that is separated or external from where we are right now. It might help if we can try to understand that our Universe is constructed with many layers, densities, and dimensions all overlaid on top of each other. When we want to "go" to a more peaceful experience in this Universe, we don't get in a spaceship and travel to that location (unless we create that in our mind); we transform our entire being into a MATCH to that frequency and we merge with that vibration. If we want to experience a realm of creation in which there is no manipulation, then we must NOT MANIPULATE. That's the only way to "get there". We must match the reality we want to experience.

For a very fun and hopefully enlightening medium, there is a series on HBO called Lovecraft Country. Watch episode 7 called "I am". In that episode, pay attention to how the character Hippolyta "travels" the Universe. This is a very, very good interpretation in our opinion. She experiences what she IS and she calls those experiences to herself - "I AM". In other words, she "travels" there.

"As above, so below" ...This phrase, which is attributed to Hermes Trismegistus and one of the tenets of Natural or Hermetic Laws is describing, basically, how what happens at one level of reality happens at all levels of reality. This encourages us to expand our ability to think if we will allow it. Take the current world affairs, as an example. If we are experiencing it at this level as one thing, what might it be REALLY at higher levels of reality? We are only experiencing it as it has been manifested in this dense reality, but this is a very diluted interpretation of something else which is really playing out at a much higher density. These are ways we can exercise our mind's ability to think outside the "box". What that higher experience may be, we can't say.

In the Wes Penre Papers (WPP), the Fourth Level of Learning, Paper 10, there was a discussion about the star systems and the star constellations that were possessed by the Overlords, aka the Archons and Yaldabaoth/En.ki. They are few in numbers, but there are systems that the Archons took over during conflicts in the past, as it were.

However, once you are in Orion, there is no need for you to engage or participate in any of these conflicts—they are not your personal conflicts. There are certain factions of Orion, such as the MIKH-MAKH Defense Forces, described in the WPP, whose task it is to take care of that. Your task is to create your own reality in Orion and participate in other's creations, as needed, and as wanted.

Moreover, our human purpose, while still here on Earth, is to wake up to Spirit within and shine Light/Knowledge upon this Construct, which is mainly in Darkness/Ignorance. That's the reason why we are here to begin with. At the Consummation of the Age, the Kenoma, i.e. the 7 Heavens, possessed by the Archons, will be lit up and reintegrated with the 8th and 9th Heavens (Orion) (see "On the Origin of the World" in the Gnostic Nag Hammadi Library online at gnosis.org). This will be the end of Yaldabaoth and the Archons, and that also goes for whatever they have conquered in the KHAA.

Although there are some star systems under Archontic regime, they are isolated, and the Archons can't expand outside these old conquests. They have no access to anything outside these constructs.

QUESTION 3: Could the soul be seen as the carrier of the individual mind?

ANSWER: Yes, you could say it that way. They definitely work together and are connected.

QUESTION 4: In The Sixth Level of Learning, you and Ariel mention that according to the Gnostics we agreed to come back to Earth after the Tiamat catastrophe and after the Deluge to awaken En.ki/Lucifer/Yaldabaoth to "Spirit." How workable or plausible is this?

ANSWER: It's VERY workable because all that is required is for each of us to overcome "Him" within ourselves. That's how we do it. We wake up to the Spirit within ourselves. Refer to the Hero's Journey answer for Question 1. All we agreed to do was to set out on this journey and finish it. However, we (most of us) have forgotten why we are here, and so many people are no longer aware of this path, but that does not mean that the Universe is not trying to remind us ALL THE TIME. The culmination of all your (and my and everyone else's) personal "demons" IS Yaldabaoth.

However, based on our research and observations, we were meant to be able to complete our mission on a collective level and in "one go," without death. But it didn't turn out that way, and now it seems quite impossible for the entire human soul group to be able to pull this off. Thus, the focus is now on trying to save what can be saved from this Experiment, and it's up to each individual to start their own wakeup process and retain Gnosis/Knowledge, in order to break the wheels and return to Orion and eventually the Pleroma.

QUESTION 5: Is the mind the precursor of the soul?

ANSWER: Yes, the mind is Divine, i.e. it is of the Pleroma. The soul is of the Kenoma (Orion and our quarantined solar system—the so-called 7 Heavens) and can't exist in the Pleroma. In that sense, from a linear perspective, the Mind came first.

However, precursor would indicate that something came "before". When understanding the Monad, we have to at least come to a point of accepting that all things were created at the same "time" (there is no "time"). Nothing came before or after anything else. We (humans) need to use the concept of time when we speak because language requires time, so the closest we can possibly achieve is acceptance of the concept even if we really don't understand it or can't relate to it.
