Welcome to another Q&A! As usual, thank you for the question you sent in. Feel free to send more question at wespenreproductions@gmail.com, and don't forget to put "Q&A" in the subject line, so we don't miss your email.

Here are today's questions:

QUESTION 1: En.ki is the 'god' of this universe/matrix. But what about AI? Is the AI entity also En.ki?

ANSWER: This is a good question because it depends on how we define AI. Most humans today possibly define AI as either robots, androids, or invisible nanotechnology, but this is only a small part of artificial intelligence. AI on a cosmic scale doesn't necessarily need to be technological in nature. If we read the Wes Penre Papers (WPP) and the Gnostic texts (GT), we may realize that En.ki, aka Yaldabaoth, and his Archons are portrayed as part of the material universe, created by Sophia, the Aeon, when she noticed the deficiency in her creation (i.e., she created without her masculine consort). Sophia rejected/cast away her mind's creation, which manifested as the physical universe or the Kenoma, as the Gnostics called it. Yaldabaoth became the "king" of this universe but was a "castaway" creation by Sophia. He is not of spiritual nature but does have a soul and a mind—intelligence. Can he and the Archons be considered artificial intelligence? Yes, they probably can. They are also stripped from creative abilities and need to rely on us and our creative minds to achieve what they want. In the extension, they also use Orion technology to accomplish things, which includes nanotechnology. That, too, is artificial intelligence, so it works in layers. It's all about how we define artificial intelligence.

QUESTION 2: If everything is source, including evil, how did Lucifer fall since even the universe that they live in is part of Source and sustained by it?

ANSWER: Lucifer only means "Light bringer" or "Light Bearer." I personally used that title for En.ki/Yaldabaoth in the WPP because it came close to describing En.ki. The Fall of Lucifer and his Angels didn't happen in the Spiritual Universe but in the material universe, albeit in the upper realms called Orion. In the beginning, there was no veil between the 9th-8th Heavens (Orion) and the 7th Heaven (the 7 Heavens being where Yaldabaoth/En.ki and his Archons reside). Yaldabaoth and the Archons had access to Orion at that time. In the WPP, I wrote about Lucifer's Rebellion, which was told in more of a 3D linear fashion and in a way that is more easily understood. In the Gnostic texts we learn that Yaldabaoth looked at himself as the King of the Universe, until he realized that there was something "above" him. In his "pride," he refused to accept this, and eventually, Sophia, aka the Orion Queen, cast out Yaldabaoth and his Archons from Orion and set up a veil between the 7th and the 8th Heavens, and up to this day, the rebels have no access to Orion. So, IOW, the rebels fell deeper into matter, where things are more solid. Thus, the Fall of Lucifer. But Lucifer and his rebels were not the only ones who fell—so did we humans. We once existed in Orion, but since then, we have descended into the most solid part of the Universe, as discussed in our Gnostic Series on the blog. But you are correct—it's all a part of Source.

QUESTION 3: Can we travel with technology between dimensions/universes (jump between dimensions)? And can we do so as a spirit with our light body?

ANSWER: Yes. This is the way Yaldabaoth and his Archons mostly travel. They use hollowed out asteroids and other vehicles to do the dimension jumps, from what I've learned. They need to use technology for something we humans can do naturally. So, to answer part two of your question: we, as soul/Spirit can travel naturally between dimensions, using thought and intention. In fact, we do it on a daily basis, without even thinking about it. How often do you think yourself somewhere? To a fantasy world? To another place here on Earth? Out into the Universe? Every time you do that, you extend your mind, and you travel to those places, but in another dimension or density. However, we humans, in our current condition, are fused/attached to our physical bodies, and that's where our main focus stays. Therefore, we can travel interdimensionally in our minds, while still being attached to our bodies. Without physical bodies, we can travel much more freely through the multiverse. We just think ourselves somewhere, and we're there in a nanosecond. In theory, we can go almost everywhere—it's just fear that keeps us blind to our options and potentials. The more unjustified fear we get rid of, the more potentials we have when it comes to nanotravelling in the multiverse.

QUESTION 4: What can we do to avoid living in the singularity? Should we live off the grid? Is that even possible? Where will the people go that don't want to be part of the smart cities? What can we do to avoid all of this? Should we go hunting, is it even possible to escape all of this?

ANSWER: Because we have freewill, we can do whatever we want to do, although the societal structure is set up in a way that if you implement complete freewill, there are consequences. We are free to do whatever we want but we might not always like the end result. If we mean by "the grid" living outside the electronic net, such as Wi-Fi and 5G, etc., it becomes more and more impossible because it will cover every inch of the planet very soon. However, we can, if we want to, live in nature, outside the cities, and become self-sufficient. We can create groups and start bartering, for example. It's a big transition, but it's possible. Of course, that means we won't be able to take advantage of the smart-city life and all that entails when it comes to so-called "comfort." Also, those who choose this route might be harassed or demonized in some ways by media and governments—this remains to be seen. Those who refuse to partake in the Brave New World will be considered a subspecies by default because they won't be connected to the Smart Grid and won't have access to the Cloud. This is why Dr. Kurzweil and others say that humanity, in the Singularity, will be billion times smarter because they will have access to the entire Cloud, which can be compared to an internal Internet, where all information can be accessed by the mind instantaneously.

So long as we are incarnated here, I see no way of avoiding this future, in case the Singularity will be completely implemented, but we can make our own choices. IMO, it's a matter of living this life to the best of our ability to feel as comfortable as possible and do things we love when we can—even if that includes participating in the technological process to some degree. Most people around the world will gradually accept the Singularity and become part of it because it seems so enticing and comfortable, but we who understand more what it's about can make conscious choices. If we don't agree to becoming part of the hive community, and keep ourselves level-headed in that sense, I don't feel we have much to fear. When we die, our souls and Spirit will still know what to do.

QUESTION 5: What are the biggest differences between the current Earth and the previous versions of it? What's something that should be pointed out, you would say, about the current construct?

ANSWER: If you look at the picture on the video (transcript) right now, this is similar to how I currently view it. It's the same Earth, it's just a "copy of a copy" across the dimensions. All of them exist simultaneously, as I see it, but when we fall deeper into matter—something we've done throughout the eons—the planet becomes more and more solid. The first version of Earth that we inhabited was located between the 7th and 8th Heavens, and that was the original Edin. Since then, we have fallen deeper and deeper, as explained in our Gnostic series and the Gnostic texts, and now we're most probably in the deepest region. This means that if humanity would wake up now, we could return to Orion or the Pleroma if we want to—the latter being the Spiritual Realm, from which we humans came once upon a time.

QUESTION 6: What is the best way to achieve enlightenment, so we don't have to reincarnate? I know in your papers you say don't go into the light but if you have a choice can't you just choose not to reincarnate?

ANSWER: Disincarnated souls have freewill not to incarnate. However, most souls don't know that. We are being manipulated in the Afterlife, persuaded to reincarnate. They push our emotional buttons and our conscience, and we think we need to go back and "fix things." Also, the Archons usually throw some of their own karma into the mix, so we have to play out their karma, as well, thinking that it's ours. A soul who doesn't know better will often reincarnate right away, and sometimes later, but if she potentially refuses and says she wants to decide for herself, she can most possibly do that, but where would she go? She doesn't know about the Grid, Orion, Pleroma, or even that she is ultimately Spirit. She would still be stuck, "wandering about" in Yaldabaoth's realm. This is why Gnosis is so important, so we know who we are, what we're doing here, and where we're heading.
