Hello, Wes Penre here with a new Q&A session. I have received lots of questions from you guys, and that is awesome. I could not include all of them here, of course, but don't give up. Many of them will be addressed in future videos. But please continue sending more questions at wespenreproductions@gmail.com, and don't forget to put "Q&A" in the subject line, or I may miss your email.

QUESTION 1: You mention that the Invaders have bodies synchronised here on Earth to withstand their energies, mainly among the ruling elite. Does it also mean or include when being possessed? If that's the case, that'd mean not everyone is prone or suited for possession hence we don't seem to see everyone getting possessed out of the blue but just fewer cases, wouldn't it?

Are the demons or lower vibration possessing people the same archons, or Enki's/Marduk's Anunnaki?

There have been known cases, as you know, in which [regular] people have been possessed. Their bodies do not seem to have been fried or damaged only that the invading entity seems to want to damage or destroy it.

ANSWER: Since I wrote about humans being fried by possessing ETs, I've come to some more recent conclusions. I now know that so-called aliens and/or Archons can take human bodies here, if they start out as babies, just like us. They are souls, just like we are, so that's not different. However, those who decide to incarnate here, for any reason, rarely care to go through the process of being a baby and have to grow up—too much hassle. This is where the bodies in stasis come into play. By using them, they can bypass the infancy/childhood process.

What we call demons can be different things: it could be thoughtforms in the astral that we humans have projected from our own fears and are so energized that they become their own entities, and they can also be what the Gnostic texts call Archons, of whom we are all possessed to a larger or lesser degree; also described in the Gnostic texts. I wrote about that in the Wes Penre Papers (WPP), as well, but I called them the Alien Invader Force (AIF) back then. I wrote that they added something to us that shouldn't be there, which are the Archontic attachments, or as Castaneda wrote in his Don Juan books, "They gave us their mind." To a degree, it's truth in that.

The regular people who we call possessed are either having their Archontic attachments triggered, have attached themselves to astral thoughtforms, or are tuning into the deeper levels of their own subconscious mind, as I see it.

En.ki, Marduk, and most of the beings mentioned in the ancient texts are the Archons.

QUESTION 2: I recently read all your Gnosis papers and was so inspired by your and Ariel's interpretation. I've started reading the Nag Hammadi, as you suggested, and I'm finding it a bit hard to follow. The wording is very tricky, almost word play in effect. I find myself rereading some passages again and again. Is there a way to read these scriptures in a way that does not become a jumble of words? I really want to connect and learn from these texts without getting confused.

ANSWER: The Gnostic texts can be quite difficult to understand if we try to interpret them literally—the Christ message was given to us in allegories, analogies, and metaphors to a large degree. It's done intentionally because reading them is not like reading a novel; it's very deep spiritual knowledge and education. It must resonate on a profound spiritual level to the individual and ignite the connection with the Spirit Realm with which we were originally directly connected but have been disconnected to for a very long time. There are lots of people online—scholars and others—who have interpreted them, but the best is always to listen to your heart and intuition, and what the texts are doing to you on the inside. Gnosis sparks and reconnects us to Spirit within us with God, if we use that word (Source/All That Is). My advice is to just be patient. Don't force it. Start reading a text that resonates and that you're drawn to and read a little bit at the time. One could say it's mandatory to reread them several times for it to really click. Everyone is different, but the Gnostic texts that I found easiest to start with were "The Secret Book of John" and "On the Origin of the World."

QUESTION 3: Would you agree that Yaldabaoth is an extension (avatar) of the Aeon Sophia and the Queen of Orion a later extension (avatar), so to speak, of the Aeon Sophia? Did the Queen of Orion create the different universes or was it the Aeon Sophia? Or maybe the Aeon Sophia created the universes through her extension (avatar) the Queen? I tend to think the latter is the case.

I believe the Queen to be a spirited soul and all of her creations to be soul fires spirited or non-spirited coming of her soul, am I correct?

ANSWER: Yes, I agree with your basic idea here. This is how I understand it: Yaldabaoth is an extension/avatar of the Aeon Sophia, created when the Aeon Sophia created our Universe (the Kenoma) and “fell” into matter. He was not a conscious creation but a consequence of her "imperfect" creation. He became the "substitute" for the missing masculine energy in her creation, which is Christ.

Before I read the Gnostic texts, it was my understanding that Zoë Sophia (the Queen) created the subsequent or parallel universes, after this one was created (or perhaps simultaneously). Now, I'm not so sure anymore. All Aeons create multiple Universes from the Pleroma, so either the Aeon Sophia did/does the same thing, or the other universes she's created are a domino effect of this universe but with different structures, attributes and rules, which I wrote about in the WPP.

In this creation (Orion and the Kenoma) the Queen is a Spirited soul, just like you and me, but also with a greater magnitude of knowledge and Spiritual connection, of course, because she is the Spiritual Source to this Universe, with which we humans are connected in our own unique way. So yes, everything in this Universe--spirited or not--comes from Her.

QUESTION 4: Do we have to pass through the seven heavens when we leave through a hole in the grid? If I remember well, before the Gnostic teachings we thought that when leaving through a hole in the grid we were free from Yaldabaoth's construct. But then with the Gnostic teachings this changed as there were 7 dimensions (heavens) outside the grid that we apparently didn't know about.

ANSWER: This is how I see it: what the Gnostic texts call the Kenoma is basically the solar system and all its different dimensions and densities. The Kenoma exists of seven celestial bodies (planets, the moon, and the sun), but when we look at them in a telescope, we only see the 3-D version of them. They exist in multiple dimensions. Moreover, all these heavenly bodies exist within the Dome and the Grid, i.e., the atmosphere, which is much wider and multidimensional than we think. What we call the astral is just another dimension within the Kenoma/Matrix/Patrix and exists all around us. We usually just can't perceive it with our five senses, except when we remote view, have an out of body experience, or during dream state.

So, if we want to visualize it for the sake of comprehension, we die and perceive ourselves being in the astral. Above us is the Dome and the Grid. The Dome is physical, so it shouldn't affect us. When we see the Grid, we aim for it, as discussed in the WPP, videos, and articles. On our way out, we do experience the 7 Heavens, because they are inside the atmosphere, i.e., the Dome and the Grid. So, we pass all that and go through the Grid. Outside the Grid is Orion. The stars and everything we see in the night sky is Orion, or rather, 4% of Orion.

This narrative is also backed up by more or less all ancient texts, including the Gnostic texts.

QUESTION 5: Have you considered publishing the WPP levels of learning in a book form? What are the costs involved? It's a lot of pages. Is there a breakeven point in required sales to make it worth doing?

ANSWER: No, I won't publish the WPP. They are meant to be completely free of charge, and I do not want to profit from them. One could argue that I can keep them online and in addition also publish them in books and sell them, but I decided early on not to do that. I have written two physical books that I do charge for, and there will be more books in the future—both novels and non-fiction.

QUESTION 6: You stated that humanity has pretty much reached rock-bottom in terms of spiritual realms, is it going to get worse before it gets better?

ANSWER: That depends entirely on us. We tend to blame our situation on this or that ET force, including the Archons, but although they do exist, they do what they do because that is who they are. One could say they are Sophia's "shadow side," just like all of us have shadow sides, too. There is no one to really blame because there is only one way to go about things, and that is to make the changes inside ourselves that we want to accomplish. We want to leave the Kenoma? Well, then we need to penetrate the barriers inside ourselves that might stop us from achieving that. Humanity wants to go even darker and enter the Singularity? Then, humanity just needs to follow the lead from those whom they allow to manipulate them. That's the easy route, until humanity realizes the consequences. It's always up to the individual. If we go darker as a soul group, it's because individual humans, creating a collective mind, decide to do that. If the soul group wakes up, we'll go in the other direction. The Gnostic texts talk about the Consummation of the Age, which is basically the destruction of the Kenoma/Matrix, where souls who are ready will go to Orion or the Pleroma (Spiritual Realm), but no one knows when that will happen.

QUESTION 7: Will your metaphysical bodies be influenced by the vaccine? Recently an energetic healer proclaimed he saw the spirit (Sophia) detach from the biological body in a patient. Will this vaccine have influence on leaving the Grid?

ANSWER: I can't speak for the healer, of course, and what he/she saw, but my personal opinion is that if this person saw something, I don't think it was Spirit leaving. Just my opinion. Regarding the second part of the question: no, the vaccine has no influence on us exiting the Grid. The only reason it would is if the person is completely ignorant of spiritual matters and gladly takes the vaccine without any self-reflection and will sink deeper into oblivion about the Spiritual Realm. A soul can't leave through the Grid if they don't know about the Grid. If we know about it and are determined to go that route, I don't see how a vaccine would stop us, except if we let our bodies become cyborgs and "immortal," so we can't die. We need to die to go through the Grid.

The metaphysical bodies will only be affected by the vaccine if we let them. Again, it has to do with the souls' awareness level.
