Welcome to a new Q&A session. Next week, there will be a more concentrated and topical video again, but because I have been traveling, my research has not been up to par. Please submit more questions at wespenre2@gmail.com, and put Q&A in the subject line. Each person can submit more than one question. Now to today's session:

QUESTION 1: When we die, will we be able to "think" to ourselves about where we want to go, whether it be back down to earth to help out as spiritual guides or teachers? Or if we think of anything immediately, we just go there instantly? This is confusing. Do we just talk out loud to ourselves and focus on not to think about anything until we have our intention?

ANSWER: The only difference between the thoughts you have here as an incarnated human and the thoughts you have in the afterlife is the speed of manifestation. In a human body, you might think, “I want to go to Brazil.” That is an idea, a thought, and an intention. First of all, you don’t need to say that out loud; your mind is thinking it, right? Secondly, a ticket to Brazil is not going to appear before your eyes immediately, and perhaps you can’t afford to go to Brazil. But if your intention is clear and focused, you put the intention into motion. However, because this 3D realm is solid and “glue-like,” things often take time to manifest. Still, you will get “signs,” and if you read them correctly, and act upon them, you will get your ticket, even though you might not have thought you’d ever get one. Things will “happen” which makes it possible to go.

In the astral, the process is the same, but the consequences of the thoughts are instant. You don’t say them out loud, you think your intentions in your mind. “I want to go to Australia,” you might think, just to check it out from your soul’s perspective. You will be there in an instant. But you will notice you need to focus on one intention and one thought at the time, or you will bounce in all different directions until you learn to focus. That’s why I’ve been saying we need to train ourselves to focus on a certain thought and intention and not let us be distracted by other thoughts, irrelevant to the situation. So long as our thought and intention are clear, we will get what we want in the astral, as well, if it’s within our vibrational possibility, which also plays a role in this. You cannot become a spirit guide unless the Archons think you are ready to become a spirit guide. If you want to go back to Earth to help out, how would you do that if you land in the Singularity with complete amnesia. You would have to start all over, and in the Singularity that is much harder than it is now. My suggestion is to aim for the Grid and go through a hole. But a person must be determined to do so and get rid of all the attachments that make them want to come back here. But this is thoroughly explained under “The Grid” tab on my blog. Lastly, I suggest you prepare your intention now, before you leave this Earth. Then, when you leave your body, you can set the intention right away, and not try to figure it out at the point of exit. More about thoughts in a later question in this Q&A.

QUESTION 2: Could it be that the astral plane is at the same location as we are here on earth, except on a different frequency? Could this be the case with all the seven heavens? This would explain the phenomena of possession by evil creatures.

According to a Dutch astral traveler the aura protects us from astral intrusions. He proclaims that the aura has a glass-like shield that is very hard to penetrate when attempted from the astral plane. He goes so far as to state that we humans could not live on earth without this protective shield.

This seems to indicate that the astral plane is all around us. What do you think? Does this make sense?

ANSWER: There is an old saying, “As within so without.” This means that one mirrors the other, back, and forth. Why is that? My take on it can be best understood if we go back to when Sophia created the Universe. She created it in her Divine Mind, but “cast it out” when it was not at her liking. She noticed it was incomplete and an abomination. This doesn’t mean Sophia doesn’t have the Universe inside her mind, as well. She just manifested it outwardly, as well, and without using a Divine Masculine Spiritual Power, so an artificial masculine power called Yaldabaoth manifested as a Substitute Masculine in form of an abomination.

Later, Sophia created the human souls. We are created from Sophia’s Mind (inside), and manifested outwardly into the physical universe (outside). So, there is both an inside and outside, mirroring each other. Both are real, depending on which perspective we take. You can go inward and think about planet Venus, and you get a picture of planet Venus as you perceive her. Then you look in a telescope and see planet Venus from what you consider outside yourself, when it’s just two perspectives of the same thing. There is a mass agreement, but there is also a saying that two people don’t see things exactly the same, and that is true. The Universe is a part of an Original Mind that after its creation was manifested as the physical universe. Because we also are Spirited, we are part of both the physical outer universe, and the spiritual inner universe. We are capable of true inner self-reflection.

So, the way I see it, the astral is both within and without because we have both Sophia’s Spiritual Creative Mind inside us, and the physical manifested mind, as well—the lower mind of Sophia that lacked a consort. For millennia, most spirited souls have acted as if they were spiritless because we have been disconnected. But because we now can regain Gnosis, we will be increasingly aware of the connection between the physical and spiritual, and that we, in our human form, and as souls, are both. The astral is not separate from the KHAA/the VOID. The KHAA is all around us and is running through us every nano-second. It’s also within us.

QUESTION 3: Will people be able to have pets during The Singularity or will domestic animals such as cats and dogs eventually become extinct? I realize this may be a sensitive question for animal lovers such as myself. The reason I ask is I vividly remembered as a teen watching one of those "Planet of the Apes" movie sequels from the 1970s. There was a scene of a cat and dog statue that represented a time when people had pets.

ANSWER: I only have one reference to go by, and that is the lectures and books of Dr. Ray Kurzweil, who has been the main Silicon Valley spokesperson for the Singularity. He has said that everything on Earth will eventually be synthetic and A.I., running on nanotechnology. He goes as far as saying that even trees and rocks will be run by nanotech. This, of course, includes pets, which means that if Kurzweil is telling it as it is, we will have pets in the Singularity.

QUESTION 4: My question is, in all your truth seeking, have you ever heard of Kuthumi and or Santa Kumara and if so, what were your findings and/or opinions?

ANSWER: I have heard of Santa Kumara but not of Kuthumi. However, I looked both of them up, and I dare say they both are disinformation, for sure. They are New Age deceptions. I would suggest people stay away from them, unless there is something in their teachings that a certain person needs to know and learn about. Just be aware there are better sources that are more truthful in general.

QUESTION 5: At one point in time Sabaoth worshipped Sophia (Pistis) but it is my conviction that she didn't want him to continue to do so after a certain point. Some dare say all of the G(g)ods and G(g)oddesses on Earth are requiring and even demanding worship. What about worship?

ANSWER: I do not believe Sabaoth ever worshipped Sophia. According to the Gnostic texts, he saw the Light of Sophia and realized that his "father," Yaldabaoth, was a false god, and he turned his back to him and was taken under Sophia's wings and got enlightened by her. There are Gnostic texts that mention worship and angels singing praise 24/7 for all eternity, and I consider all this worship and praise in the texts being Christian biases by those who wrote them down. The truth in the Gnostic texts, in my opinion, can better be found if we take the nonsensical worship parts out of them. Whomever we worship, we give our power away to. It doesn't matter if we worship a "good" or "bad" god or goddess—we still give our power away, and when we do, how can we graduate? We are all sovereign and self-determined, creative, and unique souls to begin with. We have our own power, and we need to learn how to use it correctly.

QUESTION 6: A negative thought can be about ourselves or others, but naturally spirited humans don't like to have these thoughts, even if they come up very briefly. In your book, A Handbook for the New Era, you mentioned that our thoughts are very powerful and that some thoughts come from our environment. What's the best way of dealing with negative thoughts?

ANSWER: In Video 274, "How to Reprogram our Minds," I talked about how to replace negative thoughts with our own positive thoughts. I recommend everybody to check it out; there is a process in there which works, and it's been scientifically proven, as well.

Anyway, in short, when a negative thought pops up, learn to be aware of it, and consider, is that really your thought, or did someone else implant it in you by being abusive or for any reason at all? If it's self-looting or is looting others, or otherwise creates something destructive, it is important to learn how to stop thinking this way because thoughts have power, just like spoken words have power, as well as written words. All your thoughts, good or bad, you manifest in one way or another. Not all of them will manifest in the physical, but you always put energy in motion when you think a thought. So, the more control we can get over our thoughts, the better off we will be, and the better off people in our environment will be.

How to do this the easiest, from my experience, is to apply "21-day reprogramming." It can be found in Video 274, as mentioned in the beginning of this answer.
