Wes here! Welcome to a new Q&A session! I appreciate the questions I am getting. Please send in more at wespenre2@gmail.com, and make sure to put Q&A in the subject line. Be aware that I do not read these emails until it's time for me to prepare a new Q&A. They are kept in a special folder, so if you also write a personal message in the email, I may not see it until a couple to a few weeks after. Now to the questions:

QUESTION 1: I am stuck drained, losing myself in a 15-year-old marriage with a narcissist. I feel weaker and more lost and broken than ever before. Is there any way I can get back my energy from him and produce more? If he sucked up a lot, does this mean I have little left for the rest of my life? Can I learn to obtain more?

ANSWER: A situation as the one you describe can never improve because the narcissist does not change, so for your own sanity and physical well-being, you need to handle this, or your life will not progress in a positive manner.

Yes, abusive people feed off our soul energy, which makes us feel drained, fatigued, and are often unable to function normally in relationship to self and others. We feel tired even after a good night's sleep, and we lose our self-worth.

However, the energy a soul stores and uses is not constant. The Universe has an abundance of energy, and just because we feel depleted, we can once again rebuild our energy to a normal level by disconnecting completely from sources that drain our energy. When we do so, we will “refill” our buffer of energy again—we are like batteries in that sense. But we need to learn to set boundaries. Think about it in a physical way: if someone charges you with a sword, you put your shield up, and the sword hits the shield instead of you. The shield is your boundary—it’s a matter of knowing what we want and what we do not want, and we communicate that to the world, verbally or through our manner. We must not compromise with our boundaries. If we don’t have boundaries, we will continue pulling in narcissists. By regaining self-worth and becoming more secure through inner healing, we will be better and better at setting up boundaries. But it is crucial to remove the sources of our energy depletion first. Don’t wait years to handle the situation—it will make your own condition worse and will eventually affect your physical health, after first having crippled your emotional health. When the emotional pain becomes too much to bear for our minds, we subconsciously transfer the pain to the body, which then gets sick. And don’t forget to educate yourself. There are tons of videos on the Internet about narcissism and how to handle it.

QUESTION 2: With the launch of the new spacecraft, the James Webb telescope, all over the news, what are your thoughts on NASA space program and other space agencies? Don't you think these crafts are real? I know you think Earth is surrounded by a grid and no human can leave the grid in the human body but what about those crafts sent by humans into outer space?

ANSWER: The crafts themselves may be real, but they are not located in outer space, i.e., above the Earth's atmosphere because of the Dome (also called the Firmament) that stops us from physically reaching beyond the atmosphere. The Dome (not to be confused with the Grid) is most likely a plasma field surrounding the "planet," which has a flattish surface. Even mainstream science teaches us that Earth has many layers of atmosphere before we reach "space," i.e., the rest of the solar system. Therefore, the footage we are shown by NASA and other space agencies are fake. The astronauts do not live in a vacuum and the "sky" outside is not black. The satellites orbit the plain surface of Earth from a high altitude of the atmosphere, and that's all.

When we are shown pictures of "astronauts" floating in the vacuum inside a space station (see YouTube videos), it's just very bad acting. For instance, look at their hair, standing right up, imitating vacuum. Look again, and you see stiff hair with at least one entire bottle of hairspray in it. If the lies were not so serious, it is actually funny. Once you've seen it, it cannot be unseen. And seriously, go to Google, click the image tab and type in "James Webb space telescope." Can you honestly find one picture in there that doesn't obviously look like CGI? I couldn't.

QUESTION 3: Regarding channeled entities and various ETs, where do you think beings like the Pleiadians, Sirians, Arcturians etc., come from? I assume they must have been created within the Kenoma. Are they emanations of the Archons?

ANSWER: If we exclude fake channeling and astral entities from the equation, we see one thing these ETs or entities usually have in common—they say they are us in the future, and they are a collective of souls. My research has led me to believe this is true, as I will explain in a minute. They might call themselves Pleiadians or Arcturians, but that is just to make it more digestible to us.

You who have followed my recent work know that our solar system/the Matrix/the Kenoma comprises seven Heavens, represented by seven celestial bodies and their sphere of influence: the moon, Mercury, Venus, the Sun, Mars, Jupiter, and Saturn, respectively, and in that order. Each Heaven is guarded and controlled by an Archon, i.e., Yaldabaoth's offspring. What New Age calls the Ascension Process is basically the soul's transition through these Heavens, which are all within the Matrix System. The purpose, hypothetically, is to eventually, after millions of years of ascending through these Heavens, we are finally being set free from the Matrix and can go to Orion—the Greater Universe. Instead of going through these enforced ascension levels, we can bypass this painful process by going through the Grid.

The channeled collectives (which they usually are—a “soul group”) are usually human souls who have ascended within Yaldabaoth’s Heavens. Usually, these soul groups call them densities, dimensions, or universes, respectively. If a channeled group claims to be of the fifth density, for example, they are an ascended part of our own human soul group who reside in the Fifth Heaven, which is Mars. The soul group in the RA Material, for instance, were from the sixth density, aka Jupiter, and their next ascension level would be Saturn, the Seventh Heaven (they become a sun, as they put it—Saturn being considered the ancient sun in our solar system). The Seventh Heaven would be considered Yaldabaoth’s or God’s “Paradise.” The RA collective also talks about Octaves, and that they do not know what will happen after ascending from the Seventh Heaven. It’s because they know nothing about the Grid and Orion (information that is hidden from them). The question is whether Yaldabaoth will actually let them go after completing his ascension program. According to my research, no one has graduated from the Matrix yet (at least a few years ago).

So, the channeled messages come from within the Matrix System, conveyed by “future humans,” i.e., we will become like them if we choose the archontic ascension program and stay within the Matrix. However, after the Singularity is in place, it’s most likely that human souls on the 3D level, in physical bodies, will not be able to ascend. They will be stuck here as “immortal” cyborgs.

With the above information in mind, you now have the answer to who the so-called “Ascended Masters” are (ascended humans), as well as the Galactic Federation of Light, and most of the channeled entities, as well. They are not from other star systems—they have ascended to different planets/Heavens within our solar system, which is surrounded by the bioelectrical Grid.

QUESTION 4: Is it possible that with all the planetary upheaval that the passing of Nibiru will cause, that their plans for the Singularity could be greatly hindered? I think many or most of the satellites could be taken out along with the electrical power grids worldwide. AI and the Singularity project certainly needs both the satellites and the power.

ANSWER: I must tell you that I do not believe that “Nibiru” is a threat to us. I am aware people have seen and photographed celestial bodies in the sky, seemingly within our atmosphere, but I would suggest they are holograms to confuse us. The same thing applies to seeing more than one sun. That’s the only answer I can give, I’m afraid.

QUESTION 5: Why can't we go into the moment Sophia split into us; we who are her sparks; and unite with her? We are her and She is us. In other words, why can't we create in unison with her as Creator Gods now?

ANSWER: We can, and that is actually our entire purpose for being in this lower realm of the physical universe. But the part of the human soul group, i.e., we here on Earth, are contained and isolated from the majority of the human soul group, who resides outside the Matrix/Kenoma.

We live in a much denser environment than they do. We have amnesia, and we are heavily manipulated and tampered with, and we have been told so many lies and half-truths as a human soul group that we no longer know we are creator gods, inhabiting Spirit, and can therefore create. Humans tend to think things occur by happenstance, and that they have little part in what is created around them, when in fact they are creating their lives themselves. So, in order to create with Sophia, as you put it, we first need to wake up as a soul group—not just as random individual lighthouses here and there. When that happens, the Grid will come down, and we can leave this Matrix together. Now, we need to leave as individuals and join the major human soul group outside this construct. So long as humanity does not wake up from their trance, they keep being disconnected from the Spiritual and creative part of themselves, not understanding that they create with their thoughts.
