In Preparation for the Metaverse/Singularity

I don't need to remind anyone that the last few years have changed the way of living for all of us. We could say that the big change came with the pandemic. Suddenly we were robbed of the already restricted freedom we had before that time. Since then, our lives have become a nightmare in many ways, and many of us who know how preplanned all this is might sometimes be even more frustrated about how our liberties are taken away from us, one by one, including the freedom of speech. Those who are not in the know tend to comply with the agenda, without understanding the plan behind it. In fact, even people who do see that we are being manipulated might not know, or do not yet understand the connection between COVID, vaccines, travel restrictions, mask-wearing, social distancing, isolation, and the Metaverse and eventually, the Singularity.

Many people are very afraid in the Brave New World that has been artificially created for us by the Puppet Masters. The constant fearmongering and the repetition by mainstream media and other outlets go directly into people's subconscious, reactive minds. The world becomes a very dangerous place through the programming, and few realize it's all just an illusion that the mass consciousness solidifies with their collective fear. Thus, the illusion becomes real, and the Puppet Masters know this, of course. They understand the human collective mind very well.

Perhaps, the pandemic is eventually going to fade on the backburner, but things are never going to go back to the old "normal" again. We are in the beginning of a reset right now. Next on the menu after the virus and the vaccines was the conflict between Russia and Ukraine. More uncertainties and instabilities, creating more fear. I am sure many people are hoping that all these bad things will stop soon, but it's all by design, and the virus and the Russian invasion of Ukraine are highly connected—they are just different phases of the same agenda, leading to a common goal—the Singularity. I keep stressing this because it's THE Agenda—all roads lead to Rome, and Rome is the Singularity.

When the physical world we live in becomes so restricted and scary that people don't want to go outside the door anymore, there is an escape—the Metaverse. When people no longer can make human connections in real life, the connections we need as humans will happen in the Metaverse. Perfect 3-D copies of ourselves in form of avatars will be the substitute for real human interaction we used to have in the physical world. With our soul energy, we will energize this avatar, and the avatar eventually becomes us. We, the physical humans, will be less and less important because in the Metaverse anything and everything is possible.

For years now, many people haven't been able to take their focus away from their smartphones, and when they go out to eat with friends or spouses, they often don't even interact, but are instead busy on their phones much of the time. When the dinner is over, they think they had a great evening together. This is where life has taken us, and we now think that is normal. Soon, it will be normal to be in the Metaverse all the time, too, and our interactions will happen there, while the physical body becomes more and more insignificant in the big scheme of things. People will soon wish they didn't have physical bodies and could completely live in the Metaverse. Sounds crazy? Just wait and see...

In the Metaverse, things are much safer than in the dangerous 3-D environment. In the Metaverse, there are no viruses, no vaccines, no travel restrictions. And if there are wars and your avatar is blown up, so what? There is no pain, and you can create a new one. You become immortal in the Metaverse, and there is little you need to fear, compared to the "outside world," which has been intentionally made into a very dangerous environment.

At least in the transition period, the physical bodies are needed to run the Meta avatars, so they will be kept alive with nanotechnology. Our bodies are needed until we have completely transferred our mind into the A.I. Cloud, which comprises the Metaverse, but started with the regular internet and smartphones. Even the Metaverse is just a step on the way.

They Want our Bodies!

The Controllers want humankind to become constantly connected to the Metaverse, and with the risk of repeating myself, it is done through nanotech, which is just a logical continuation of quantum physics. You see, it's all connected. Who gave us the idea of quantum physics? Was it someone who got a sudden brilliant insight, or was it downloaded/channeled/funneled from beings in the astral—so-called ETs?

These are all implanted ideas, one after the other. Certain intelligent humans/scientists are chosen as receivers of specific messages, driving the agenda forward, and most of these scientists may often even think it was their own insight. Humankind needed to know about quantum physics first before we could develop the Metaverse and the nanotech-based new human.

In 2016, Klaus Schwab of the World Economic Forum (WEF) said in an interview that they want everybody brain-chipped by 2026—that is the goal. On top of that, we know Elon Musk's goal, as well, to have humans brain-chipped to connect to his satellite system. Once all that is done, we will have the Matrix movies happening for real. There is eventually not going to be a way back to physical life again. The physical human bodies become batteries to energize the digital nano-world. I have often said the Controllers that are not of this world use us as batteries. Yes, they already do, but when the Singularity is finalized, we become the ultimate batteries, feeding the Metaverse with our soul energy. I wrote already in the Wes Penre Papers (WPP) that the Khan Kings (the ETs) want our bodies. This is what we are really talking about.

When this is accomplished, the plan to invade Orion will most likely be the next step, and it will be done in the nano-world, i.e., on a soul level and through the digital world.

Giving into Misery?

For years, I have suggested we leave this Matrix/Kenoma through a hole in the Grid because this is not our world, and it will never be. The Spirited humans need to leave—the sooner the better. But while we're here, we have things we need to learn—most of it having to do with emotional healing and regaining Knowledge/Gnosis. We need to increase our soul vibrations through love and compassion and understanding. We need to let go of our attachments to this world, so we can leave without inner resistance that might become a barrier when it comes to leaving.

However—and this might perhaps sound like a contradiction—many spiritual researchers are of the mindset that everything in this world is evil and should therefore be avoided and rejected. But that is not what it means by getting rid of attachments. The way I see it, such a mindset is not high vibration. We are here to bring light into darkness, and we can't do that by repeating how bad everything is. Instead, just like on an overcast day, we are looking for some sunbeams finding their way through the clouds. While we are still incarnated here, it's a matter of finding these sunbeams and increasing joy and satisfaction despite all the negativity that is cast upon us daily. It's when we can do that we are really increasing our vibrations. We show that we are spiritual beings who can find joy and creativeness even in the harshest environments.

I have been working on this for some time now, and this is when the soul is really perking up, and the vibrations are increasing rapidly. Find the oases, find Nature, do something that excites you, and you will not only find joy within yourself, but you will also raise the frequency of those around you and the rest of the human soul group on a subquantum level. Get grounded in nature and raise your vibrations from there.

Also important—connect with people who are important to you, receive and give human touch and find the spiritual connection between you. In a world where human touch is being rejected and almost forbidden, we need to do the opposite. Connect, interact, and apply human touch—something we all need, whether or not we realize it.
