Good morning, good day, or good evening, in whatever time zone you may be in the world. This is Wes Penre broadcasting.

Lately, I have dug deeper into the Matrix exit plan on how to leave through a hole in the Grid. I have connected and reconnected dots, based on philosophical discussions with some likeminded, which often leads to epiphanies, but I have also reviewed the rich material that eventually became the Wes Penre Papers (WPP)—even some unpublished data and information, so-called raw material. Then I have collected all the above and pondered over it, and I have come to some conclusion, I believe are very valid. Now, I want to share them with you for your own consideration.

I have continuously received questions about what vibration we need to leave the Matrix through the Grid. I have not, of course, been able to tell anybody the exact vibration we need and how we know when we have accomplished it. It's nearly impossible to know, and we would need technological equipment to measure the vibration of the human Avatar (soul/mind). It's not feasible, and seriously, is it even necessary?

Let's discuss this.

After going through and having collected additional information from the ocean of data from the WPP years, and largely based on discussions with particular sources, the following emerged:

It is true we need a certain vibration to leave this Construct, but it's irrelevant to know what that vibration is—to focus on that is a great distraction and only creates fear and anxiety: “Am I vibrating at the right frequency now? Will I be able to leave?” No one should need to worry about that. We all will know when we are ready to leave, and I will explain how and why in a moment. To be able to do so, I need to recap some of my previous material and merge it with the new.

Something I have stressed a million times by now, figuratively speaking, is that we need to question everything we learn and have learned in this Matrix. That means everything. And then, we need to get rid of all attachments to this world, from the most insignificant to the most significant, such as friends, family, and pets, if necessary. This is tough, but imperative if we really want to leave. We must make the decision to let go of attachments before we die and leave our physical bodies. Once we're dead, we don't want to mess around in the astral and potentially be subjected to manipulative forces that might trick us into a new body, thus trapping us again. It is easily done unless we have prepared.

Use critical thinking! We must stop being so agreeable to everything we see or hear, whether it's coming from mainstream or the alternative field, respectively.

Another important thing is to work on ourselves. Star races out there in Orion, aka the Greater Universe, are very reluctant to letting humanity leave our Construct because of the way we behave as a soul group. They are of the impression we have adopted the minds of our Oppressors, the false gods. And unfortunately, they are right. Therefore, we need to be able to distinguish between our subconscious, reactive mind, and our conscious mind. We must learn how to not react out of control. It's very important we get in control of our own emotions and actions-reactions. When we feel we want to be reactive and lash out, for example, we need to step back and take a deep breath, until the urge subsides, and we can respond responsibly. This is how we override our reactive mind and reprogram ourselves to regain our power and creative abilities. In Orion, we will again become true creator gods, as it were, and it is important that we are in control over what we create and stop creating from our reactive mind, which most people on Earth do—more so than ever before, from what it looks like.

But what about scientific so-called evidence and proof? Surely, we must at least abide to that, correct? Science is science, and much of that is not rebuttable, right? It's based on proven facts—we hear that every day, so it must be true.

Well, I know I am probably speaking to the choir here, but let's expand on the so-called "scientific concept" of the Matrix, and thus, the scientific laws. Dr. Tom Campbell is a scientist, but a rogue scientist at that, once working with Robert Monroe at the Monroe Institute. He says that the Matrix is held together by common beliefs and belief systems, but not only that: The Matrix has its own rules and laws that need to be followed for it to persist and not to perish. For example, you can't just throw yourself off a cliff, flap your arms, and think you can fly. It's impossible in this Matrix, regardless of how strong your intentions are. Flying, however, is possible outside the Matrix. Why is that?

This is where the so-called "science" and physical laws come into play.

It's called physical laws for a reason—it's because they are physical and apply to this particular simulation, aka the Matrix. Outside this Earth construct, completely different laws and rules apply. Many of us, who have chosen to take a spiritual path, know this all too well, but scientists call us lunatics as soon as we question their equations and conclusions of what reality is. Their laws only apply to the universe of five senses, and they try to convince us that these five senses are all that exist. If this were the case, perhaps science could be taken more seriously. We, however, who are living both in the 3D physical world and in the so-called spiritual world, are no longer very interested in the scientific laws of the Matrix because they won't apply where we are going. Scientists and their allies—the mainstream media—program us by telling us that what we see of the Universe, which is only a very tiny bit of the electromagnetic spectrum called visible light, is all there is, and that the scientific laws are universal. And mark my words, for there will come a time, not too far into the future, when we will be censored for questioning scientific laws and conclusions in general. We may even be penalized for it and ostracized from society for being heretics. There will be only one truth and one way of seeing things. If we object to that, we will be silenced. We have all seen where censorship is going in just a couple of years. It's mind-boggling.

The EL-ite needs to constantly remind us of the laws and regulations to keep us trapped in the Matrix. And mental health doctors and professors deal only with the physical mind, aka the brain, and give us diagnoses if we think outside the brain-box—we are suddenly delusional, or even worse—narcissistic and psychopathic. Yes, this is how they actually look at it. Science needs to ridicule those who start thinking “outside the box,” because if too many people use critical thinking, which is no longer being taught in school, the Grid will come down and that's the end of the Matrix/Kenoma. It will also be the end of the EL-ite, and they know it.

The Grid exists both inside us as an “inner barrier,” and outside us as a projection. The more we disagree to the extremely limited options the Matrix has to offer, and the more we realize that the entire System has only one purpose to keep us trapped here, our inner Grid starts to dissolve, and we get access to what's beneath, which is ultimately our true selves—our inner core, simplistically speaking. It's the knowingness inside, which in Gnosticism is called Gnosis, from the Greek word, which means knowledge. Once our Inner Grid starts crumbling because we become less and less a part of the mass agreements and belief systems, the more ready we are to leave this realm. We reach a point when we realize that we have been in prison for millennia—a slave race to an invader force, operating from another dimension and density, using selected humans of selected bloodlines as their puppet masters in our own dimension and density. We know that we can't continue incarnating in such a traumatic realm anymore, so the obvious option becomes to leave. And fortunately, a solution has been presented to us as holes in the bioelectrical Grid that surrounds the Earth Construct.

Once we've made the firm decision that this is our last incarnation on Earth, we are ready to leave, and thus, we are then vibrating at the right frequency. This is the only measure we need to keep in mind. Do you feel ready? After body death, are you 100% determined to go through the Grid? If so, you are ready and can leave. Your attachments are gone, and hopefully, you have worked on yourself to the best of your ability. Even if you have not, you will most likely be able to leave anyway, but the more reactive you are, and the more you have adopted the Archontic mindset, the more difficult your time will be in Orion. It's here and now we need to do the job for the best result.

In summary, we need to be aware of the following:

1. Disagree with the rules and laws of this Matrix, which have nothing in common with Orion, the Greater Universe. It's all inverted, manipulated, distorted, and false. That's what keeps it in place, because that's the reality the human soul group has agreed upon via manipulation, based on that we have amnesia and can be easily programmed.
2. Realize that the Matrix is not our home and that we need to move on after this lifetime.
3. Get rid of all attachments to this world.
4. Do Inner Work (shadow work), so we can distinguish between our own thoughts and those of others (including those of our inner "Archontic"/Khan King based attachments).
5. When we exit, pay no attention to anything whatsoever in the astral. Instead, spot the Grid, focus on a hole, set your intention, and exit like a laser beam.

So, knowledge is still the key, i.e., the knowledge of the place we dwell in, and the knowledge about where we're going. But how much knowledge do we need?

My conclusion is that we need to understand who we are, where we are, and where we are going. It's fine to learn more than that—it's always beneficial—but we will also regain memories once we leave the Matrix. Why is that? It's because we are no longer under the influence of the mass consciousness, trapped within the Grid, and we are no longer subjected to the slow vibration of the solid Matrix System and the hypnotic trance it subjects us to. We return where we belong, and we will regain the memories we once had before we were taken as prisoners of wars and locked into this System of Death and Decay.

Also, do not worry that your mood is fluctuating. In most New Age teachings, you learn that you always need to be positive and in high spirit. This is a trap, creating anxiety and self-doubt. No one in this construct can be in high vibration all the time—it's impossible. Those who say they can are not authentic and probably have a lot to learn and work on before they can leave. They are in denial. The way to go is to confront our shadow side—not to hide it and be ashamed of it. We need to recognize it, accept it as a part of us, and transform it by reprogramming ourselves, as I have discussed in a separate video about reprogramming ourselves.

There are people who say there are other ways to leave the Matrix than through the Grid. None of these ways I've heard of is working. Why? Because regardless of what you do, the Grid is there as a big obstacle. The Grid consists of your own energy times 7 billion when it comes to the energetic capacity of the Grid. How can you bypass that? You can't. We have an opportunity during a short window in time to exit the Matrix through holes in the Grid, before we are turned into cyborgs, trapped in our bodies “forever,” getting “eternal” physical life.

My advice is to consider taking the opportunity to leave and go home.
